MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Engaging the NBTA Community - A Culture of Belonging

For nearly 50 years, the NBTA has elevated the practice of law by issuing nearly 10,000 board certifications, no doubt a proud history. For decades, the organization achieved its mission by recognizing attorneys who met our standards of tested excellence and promoting them to the public as leaders in their practice areas. Yet, much has changed in the first half century, and it is time the NBTA meets another challenge – create a culture of belonging and provide our members with the tools they need to thrive in a world that NBTA members must show their desire for educational offerings from the organization.

Accordingly, I am proud to announce NBTA's new educational offering NBTA Certified Legal Education Excellence.

Our new educational program will provide a series of webinars designed to provide practitioners with the necessary tools to strengthen their practice, improve their country on a variety of legal topics.

To get this effort off the ground, we have scheduled April, May, and June webinars - please see details below. Additionally, if you would like to sound out a topic or offer a presenter and a webinar, please reach out to Roger Daly, Director of Engagement (rdaly@nbtaattorneys.org). Roger will work with the committee members to develop programs on topics and presenters will be scheduled for future programming. The next generation of board-certified attorneys will discover the enhanced value of their expertise when paired with the exhibited professionalism of board certification. As the legal profession evolves, including the introduction and acceptance of the uniform bar exam, now is the time for board certified attorneys to demonstrate their value to legal consumers who will judge and choose attorneys based on how they demonstrate their expertise.

The Certified Litigation Excellence program is just the first step in providing greater NBTA membership benefits. The Board is working on new ways for members to actively engage in programs that provide continuing CLE credits, look forward to providing more opportunities in the year given.

Lastly, as we build our community, it is important that all of us engage in growing our organization and inviting peers to become NBTA members. This is a team effort, and we need your help. If every NBTA member brings one new member, we would double the size of our organization. Board certification matters to the general public and we should proudly advocate for highly skilled attorneys to join our ranks.

NBTA's next half century demands that we work together in growing our membership. There are a few specific ways to make this happen:

1. Send your colleague to the NBTA application page. They are able to check if they meet the minimum standards as well.

2. As a member, you can log in to our NBTA PowerPoint resources as part of any educational session/webinar/speech given before larger audiences.

3. Invite NBTA leadership to speak to the part of volunteer state or local meetings. We are happy to present before your meetings (as speakers or members of panels) or have a presence at your meetings with a table or booth. Please fill out this form.

NBTA members believe in the power of the organization and its board certification program. Let's guarantee our next 50 years together and get new members to join our efforts. It is imperative!

Advocating on Behalf of Attorneys

The mission of NBTA is to inform and educate the public concerning legal representation by board certified practitioners. The U.S. Supreme Court recently ruled in Reed v. Illinois 496 US 91 (1990), that rules against attorney advertising themselves as "certified" violated their freedom of speech under the First Amendment. Yet the importance of board certification by all courts and all states has not been fully realized, creating obstacles. However, NBTA Board of Directors, staff, and members have been committed to ensuring that attorneys get the credit they earned and deserve. Through their effort and works, they have affected change. Here are their recent successes.

Ohio

Board Certification for Truck Accident Law (TAL) comes to Ohio. Michael Leiterman (NBTA certified in Civil Practice Advocacy, Civil Trial Law and Truck Accident Law) provided a consultant to have Ohio recognize TAL as a legal specialization area. The ruling prompted the Commission on the Certification of Attorneys as Specialists (CCAS) to make changes that will go into effect on April 15, 2024. NBTA is one of five that has been approved as an accrediting organization. The Supreme Court of Ohio will no longer require NBTA to seek approval for each specialty areas and NBTA will be permitted to determine what certification programs it would like to offer.

Michael Leiterman said, "Our lawsuit and the resulting decision of the Ohio Supreme Court to change the rules on lawyer specialization allows the Ohio lawyers at The Law Firm for Truck Safety to communicate our specialized skills and dedication to victims of truck crashes. This helps the consumer of legal services by making it easier for victims and their families to make informed decisions about who should represent them."

Pennsylvania

Through the collaborative work of NBTA members: Marion Murray, Edward Ciarimboli, Dan Murley and NBTA Staffer, Gwen Arcangelo – NBTA successfully received approval for Truck Accident Law Certification from The Pennsylvania Bar Association Review and Certifying Board after four-month review. Those Pennsylvania attorneys interested in Truck Accident Law may apply now.

Arizona and Connecticut

NBTA is noticing a trend that more states recognize the American Bar Association accreditation of NBTA specialization programs, and they no longer require NBTA to submit a separate application for each specialty area. Recently, Arizona and Connecticut. Arizona and Connecticut, recently changed their policy. Gwen Arcangelo, Director of Exams and State Accreditations has navigated the required processes and attorneys in Arizona and Connecticut may now apply in all eight legal specialization areas.

Member Spotlight

NBTA Certified Attorneys, Michael and Rena Leiterman share many things: a marriage, a vision for possibilities, co-authorship, and a passion for providing the best outcome for victims after a truck accident. Recently, Rena Leiterman, Board Certified in Truck Accident Law, was recognized as the 11th top professional truck accident attorney through national lawyer ratings and reviews.

Rena Leiterman says, "Board certification ensures that attorneys have undergone rigorous evaluation and have met high standards of proficiency and ethics."

Recognizing that Truck Accident Law is a unique legal specialty, they sought out the National Board of Trial Advocacy as a collaborator to successfully establish the vision.

Knowing they can litigate only a small portion of the over 5,000 fatal truck accident cases per year, the Leiterman need and wanted to share their legal knowledge with their fellow attorneys. They share their experience because they want to make the world a better place. They have helped other attorneys be successful in the majority of contested truck accident cases.

Michael is a founder of The Law Firm for Truck Safety. He is also co-founder of the Academy of Truck Accident Attorneys (ATAA) to continue to grow and to select candidates who handle truck collision cases across the country. He has received record breaking truck accident settlements and verdicts. Michael attended truck driving school and obtained his Class 'A' Commercial Driver's License. Michael is also the author of the Trial Guides book The Zen Lawyer: Winning with Mindfulness, published in 2018.

Rena concentrates her practice in trial and appellate litigation involving serious personal injury and wrongful death related to commercial vehicle collisions. She has successfully opposed Petitions for Certiorari to the United States Supreme Court and obtained the first punitive damage verdict against a truck driver in the state of Ohio. Rena is a member of the Ohio Bar Association's Truck Safety Committee, course in the country on truck accident law. Rena is on the Board of Directors for NBTA and leads the NBTA Specialty Program Commission on truck accident law.

Rena and Michael coauthored the 4000 page, three-volume series, Litigating Truck Accident Cases. It covers every aspect of litigation from investigation through post-judgment collection of damages caused by trucks or commercial vehicles. The series includes the complete Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) applicable to truck accidents and claims, and an overview of truck accident laws and regulations from each state. Both Rena and Michael have received the NBTA President's Award.
